CLIMATE CURTAINS

WELCOME

The problem with heated buildings is that a tremendous amount of heat disappears through the windows. Many buildings stand empty most of the time, or are vacant during long periods. During these periods, the windows can be covered with Climate Curtains, an innovative solution that saves energy, money and the environment.

Climate Curtains

By covering the windows with Climate Curtains, the heat loss through windows can be minimised. Furthermore, a Climate Curtains system harvests solar energy and transfers heat back into the building, making its use doubly advantageous..
